We are distinctly aware of the need to approach each family as unique in their story and as experts in their own lives, and see our role as one which walks alongside parents, carers and young people in creating positive change.

What sets us apart?

- We are independent, objective and highly experienced in child protection.
- We provide a team of consistent workers with varied and high-quality skills, drawn from many sectors including child protection, disability, mental health, domestic violence, training and family support.
- Our team have a wealth of knowledge and experience, which enables us to tailor support packages to families, utilising a wide range of innovative and intentional resources, to assist in reaching better outcomes for those involved.
- We utilise the Mind of My Own app as a tool to encourage children to safely, securely and digitally share their thoughts and feelings with their SCS worker. This can inform the intervention, provide opportunities for safeguarding and ensure the needs of the children are being understood and addressed accordingly.
